Lexington Macabees to Celebrate.

Lexington Tent No. 20, Knights of the Macabees of the World, will celebrate the sixteenth year of its existence on February 28, with a big initiation program in the lodge rooms, followed by a banquet to about 300 members in the Phoenix Hotel.

Sleet Does Heavy Damage.

The heaviest sleet since January, 1892, fell in this section Sunday night doing considerable damage to trees, and causing much suffering among unsheltered stock, as following so suddenly the several warm days of the past week, farmers had no time to prepare for their comfort.

In Paris great damage was done the telephone companies, as lines all over the town were broken down and a large number of telephones put out of commission as the result of falling wires coming in contact with electric wires.

Reports from out in the county are to the effect that telephone poles were broken down in great number by the weight of the sleet which collected upon the wires. Sunday night the entire circuit was cut out to avoid any possibility of pedestrians sustaining injuries from the broken wires and yesterday the day current was discontinued for about four hours to allow linemen to cut down the broken wires.

The East Tennessee Telephone Co. has a force of about fifteen linemen at work here repairing the damage. The Home Company sustained but little loss in the city owing to the fact that most of their wires are underground. The electric fire alarm system was considerably impaired as a result of the heavy fall of sleet.

TURNER'S SLAYER FREED

Jury in Case at Malvern, Ark., Acquits Jack Purnell of the Charge of Murder.

KILLED AT HOT SPRINGS.

Turner Shot While Walking With Purnell's Wife After Visiting Picture Shows.

A news dispatch from Malvern, Ark., February 14, says: "Jack Purnell was acquitted of the murder of W. C. Turner yesterday afternoon, after the jury having had the case since Saturday afternoon."

"Turner's death occurred at Hot Springs August 11 of the past year, when Turner and Mrs. Purnell, who had been on a visit to the various picture shows of the city, returned to the Purnell home, where Turner was boarding for a time."

"The State charged that Purnell went home before his wife and their boarder returned and deliberately lay in wait for them and shot Turner down when they arrived."

"The verdict came somewhat as a surprise, since the jury had been out so long. It was believed that a mistrial would result."

"Never in the history of the Circuit Court has such a masterful address been delivered in a murder trial as that made by Col. George W. Murphy, of Little Rock, chief of counsel for Purnell. It is said by many who have had the pleasure of listening to the venerable attorney, conceded to be the leading criminal lawyer in the State, that his address in behalf of Purnell was the best that he ever made in a case of this kind. Its effect on the jury was plainly noted, and this, combined with the recognized fact that Purnell had made a most valuable witness for himself, caused almost general expectation that Purnell would be acquitted."

Washington's Birthday Celebrated.

Wednesday morning at nine o'clock at the public school auditorium the following program will be rendered:

Music—High School Band.

Original Essay—"Washington as a Private Citizen"—Helen Desha—High School.

Music—High School Band.

Benediction—Rev. O. B. Crockett.

New Theatrical Firm.

Messrs. Robert S. Porter and Robert Shea, the theatrical magnates of this city, have secured a lease on the Paris Grand in this city for a number of years and are now in possession. The Grand will be run in connection with the Comet Theatre, which has been in successful operation for the past four months.

On Monday, March 6, Messrs. Porter & Shea will inaugurate the summer season of vaudeville at the Grand. The bookings will be secured through the agency of the Gus Sun Booking Agency of Springfield, Ohio, which in itself is a guarantee that all the best acts in vaudeville will be seen here during the coming summer months.

For the winter season the Grand will be booked by Klaw & Erlanger and The Shuberts, and this will also insure to the people of Paris a splendid line of attractions. During the next two weeks the Grand will undergo a thorough overhauling and cleaning. Both the Comet and the Grand will be under the immediate supervision of Manager Porter, and as he has the confidence of the people of Paris and the county, through his past management of these two houses, there is no reason to believe otherwise than that our people in the future will see the best there is to be had in the moving picture and theatrical line.

Bible Class Banquetted.

State Sunday School Evangelist Walter E. Frazee, of Louisville, was the chief speaker at the third annual banquet given by Mrs. Carey E. Morgan's Bible class in the parlors of the Christian church Thursday evening, his subject being "The Unfinished Task."

Mr. Frazee predicted a total of one thousand organized Bible classes in the state by the time of the meeting of the state convention of the Christian church which will meet in Frankfort in October.

Superintendent W. O. Hinton spoke on "The Signs of the Times," and his address was listened to with much interest.

Prof. A. Fairhurst, of Lexington, delivered a witty talk, his subject being "A Nameless Subject and a Thoughtless Speech."

Plates were laid for 175 guests. The parlors of the church were decorated in pink and green with a profusion of pink chrysanthemums.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is, at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Inherent Riches.

There are thousands of people who have lost everything they valued in the world, all the material results of their lives' endeavor, and yet, because they possess stout hearts, unconquerable spirits, a determination to push ahead which knows no retreat, they are just as far from real failure as before their loss; and with such wealth they can never be poor.—Orison Sweet Marden, in Success Magazine.

The First "Cowboys."

"Cowboy" was once a sinister word in American politics. In the Revolutionary war the "cowboys" were a set of Tories in Westchester county, New York, popularly so-called because of the brutal roughness with which they treated their Whig or rebel neighbors. It was, no doubt, in memory of them that the name of "cowboys" was given in 1861 to certain people in Connecticut and other parts of New England who were almost secessionists.

Long-Lived Germs.

Living typhoid germs have been found in a fly stomach six days after the fly had sucked them in, and these germs were in their "specks" for two days after germs were eaten by Miss Fly. Consumption germs were taken out of the belly of a fly at a fly post-mortem. Mrs. Fly had sucked these particular consumption germs in fifteen days before. Diphtheria germs live in flies a week, but cholera germs die out in a couple of days.

Personalities in "Pilgrim's Progress."
The "Pilgrim's Progress" is a gallery of portraits, admirably discriminated, and as convincing in their self-verification as those of Holbein. His personages live for us as few figures outside the drama of Shakespeare live. They are not, like the humorists of Ben Jonson's plays, constructed by heaping a load of observations on a series of ethical abstractions; they are of a reasonable soul and human flesh subsisting.—Edward Dowden: "Puritan and Anglican."

Accuse of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, or injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist. Only 25 cents at Oberdorfer's."

Eccentric Work Basket.

There are work bags made of turtles. Could anything be odder? And yet they are not unattractive, queer as they sound. The shell of the turtle is lined with some gay silk, and the tail is pulled over and inserted in the mouth, then used as a handle. They make nice sewing baskets, and will undoubtedly appeal to the lovers of the eccentric.

At the Top.

"I take a good deal of pride in my cousin Hector," said Mrs. Lauphus. "He paid his own way through the medical college, got his diploma and now he is a full fledged disciple of Osculaplus."

Curious Animal.

A curious animal is the alpaca, which has an appearance immediately between a llama and a sheep and yields from ten to fourteen pounds of beautiful wool. If crossed with the vicuna the wool is even finer. In color, like the llamas, alpacas are black, white, gray and red.

In the Same Boat.

A story is told of a woman who left the Hotel Westminster, Boston, in a taxicab, directing the chauffeur to drive to the Art Museum. The door of the cab was hardly closed before the machine started with a jerk, and began narrowly to miss curbstones as it proceeded on its way. Becoming frightened the woman rapped upon the window of the cab and said: "Please be careful. This is the first time I ever rode in a taxi." "That's all right, ma'am. This is the first time I ever drove one alone."

Rich Man.

The richest man in our acquaintance is one who, although in middle life, has not accumulated a thousand dollars. His character is so lofty and gentle and his heart so genuinely true that his friendship carries with it a wonderful wealth of helpfulness and courage and those other qualities which lift men into high places in life—and these are things that money cannot buy.

A Nest for Baby.

A large clothes basket lined and filled with a many-times folded blanket or large cushion makes a cozy nest for a baby, and in this the little one has room to lie and stretch his little limbs about. It makes a change from the cot, and the babe is more out of draughts in the basket than when lying on a hearthrug in front of the fire.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corals attack like tigers disease germs. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try Them. 50 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Happenings in January.

January has the credit of an event which has changed the world's history and which happened in our own country. Gold was discovered in California January 14, 1848. Seven years later, on January 27, 1855, the Panama railroad was opened and got its share of the gold of the returning Californians and the gold seekers who had money enough for travel by that route. And the first telegraph was established January 6, 1844, and the first penny post and postage stamps in the world came into being in England January 10, 1840.

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade, I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured. MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy, is what you need. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your money is returned. Ask your druggist.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

PUBLIC SALE OF SPLENDID
Bourbon County Farm.

ON TUESDAY, FEB. 21, 1911,

at 1 o'clock p. m., on the premises, we will sell at public auction, a tract of 253 acres, five miles from Paris, on the Jackstown turnpike and Tarr Station pike, one mile from Tarr Station, belonging to Mrs. S. G. Clay.

Ten room frame dwelling in perfect repair, with splendid dry cellar under nearly the whole house. Ice house, carriage house, meat house, hen houses, granary, two cabins, two corn cribs, two horse barns.

The farm divided into six pastures with never failing water in each enclosure and every fence, outside and inside, new and hog proof. Forty acres of woodland; fifty acres of virgin soil; fifty acres of old sod; forty acres of sod ready for tobacco; thirty acres the third year in clover, for corn; thirty acres for corn or hemp, plowed out of sod four years ago and has had two crops of corn and two of wheat, now in wheat stubble. Sixty acres in wheat, which was plowed out of sod three years ago and had two years of corn. This is a splendid farm located in the richest farm section of the county, with every foot good for tobacco, hemp or corn. No rocks or washes.

Two tobacco barns, capacity eighteen acres. An ideal cattle barn with racks, troughs, crib, tongue and grooved loft floor, that will feed fifty cattle comfortably. A good tenant house with outbuildings and fenced. Every building in perfect repair.

A Fairbanks stock scales, enclosed.

This farm is fenced, dividing it about equally, with barn and improvements on each part and each part on the pike.

This farm will be sold in two parts, then as a whole.

Tract No 1 contains about 150 acres, with tenant house and cattle barn.

Tract No. 2 contains about 143 acres, with dwelling and buildings as described above.

To Remove Mildew.

If kid gloves have become spotted with mildew they should be placed in a bottle with a lump of ammonia about the size of a walnut; cork the bottle tightly and leave them for a short time, when the mildew spots will quite disappear. If left too long, however, the ammonia will rot the stitches; so they must be watched. An airtight box will do equally well as a bottle.

DODGING THE

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Josephus Henderson was a man of forty when a startling event took place in his life. He was also a widower. He was exactly five feet high and weighed 110 pounds. These figures will convince you that Josephus was not numbered among the mighty men of earth. He had tried various ways of making a living, and in pursuing them he had got the reputation of being keen. He had at last turned peddler and was driving a horse and wagon around the country with dry goods, notions, groceries and tinware. That's the way he came to meet the widow Sopher, who lived on a farm.

The widow had passed forty. She was large and bony and strong. She was not handsome. The only thing on earth she feared was the law. She had once been arrested for kicking a man and had spent ten days in jail. The sheriff had made her stay as pleasant as possible, but she had never recovered from the shock.

Peddlers are a jovial lot, and so are widows, and in time these two came to call each other Josh and Sally.

Things would have gone no further but for the little man's keenness. He never made a sale to the widow without cheating her, and one day when he heard that she had come into possession of $5,000 in cash through the death of a brother Josephus saw his way clear for the future. That money would set up a store in the village, and he would become a thriving merchant.

Josephus went courting. He found the widow behind the plow in a field. As he courted she plowed. He had no objections, as time was money to both of them. Josephus confessed that he had entertained a sneaking affection for the widow since his first call, and though she didn't say much, she seemed pleased.

Josephus was told to call two weeks later, but at the end of nine days he was back again. He said it was his bending heart that fetched him. He had cut the time down, but the widow was ready for him. Several days previous she had gone to the village and paid a lawyer $5 to answer the question:

"Can the law trouble a wife who licks her husband?"

And his answer had been:

"Not if you do not lick him too hard."

There is neither assault nor battery in what may be called a moderate licking. Don't break any bones and don't seriously injure his eyes."

"I have been thinking," said the widow to Josephus, "I have been thinking and wondering if you loved me."

"Heavens, can you doubt it?" he exclaimed.

"And you will always love me?"

"Forever and forever."

"Then we'll say two months hence."

"One month—a week—a day."

Josephus knew of a store to rent in the village, and he wanted that $5,000. The widow insisted that she must have two weeks at the very shortest, and a date was settled on. The marriage was to be private and be celebrated in her home. In due time the happy day came round—a preacher and two witnesses and the deed was done. An hour later, as the happy couple were left alone, the widow changed her dress, rolled up her sleeves and brought out a new horsewhip bought for the occasion.

"What's up?" asked the wondering Josephus.

"Take off your coat and stand out."

"For what, love? I want to talk with you about opening a store in town."

"Plenty of time for that, Josephus. The first sale you made to me was five yards of roller towel. You beat me on the price and on the measure. I'm going to tan your jacket for it."

"But, love—"

She took him by the collar and laid on the whip till he howled. A woman who could twist a plow around in clay soil could handle the little Josephus.

"The second sale," continued the wife as she rested, "was five tin pans. Four of them leaked, and you beat me out of 10 cents beside. Here is licking No. 2."

"But I am your dear husband!" he protested as he squirmed about.

"And that's why I can lick you and dodge the law. Here goes!"

Josephus' hide was tickled again. He attempted to fight, but was taken by the hair and his head banged against the wall till he grew quiet. When the performance was over and the wife had got her breath she said:

"You sold me ten yards of calico for a dress and warranted it to wash. It was three-quarters of a yard short on the measure and the colors ran into each other. Josephus, some more horsewhip!"

"I'll have you arrested for this!"

"You can't. That's what I paid $5 to make sure of. Come to time!"

And Josephus was licked for selling short weight groceries, and for charging 50 cents too much for a pair of shoes, and for selling black stockings that crooked, and when he had got his last stroke the wife said:

"Josephus, darling, it was a consin of mine that got the $5,000, but you've got me, and here we dwell, and you to the farm work and do it well or you'll get some more of this! The mercantile business is not for us, dear. What we want is the free air of the country, with honest prices and good measure thrown in."

Heroism Under Knife.

Heroism on the operating table is generally regarded as a necessary display of fortitude and therefore not calling for particular mention. Its finest examples come under the observance of only a very few persons at best, and these few generally forget quickly what they have witnessed in preparing for another operation. There is nothing particularly thrilling about it, no attending battles or self-sacrifice or catastrophes to lend it color and attract attention.

Why She Refused.

"Yes," said the thoughtful girl, "I was obliged to refuse him when he asked me to marry him." "But I thought you esteemed him so highly." "I do, but he told me I was the first girl he had ever proposed to. If I had said 'yes,' he'd have been too confident and egotistical. He'll have to be rejected a few times before he talks matrimony to me."

Judging a Man.

"You can judge a man by the company he keeps," said Uncle Allen Sparke, "but you can't always judge him by his habits. Some men are a good deal better than the cigars they smoke."

He Knew Her Methods.

Wife—I've been shopping all day and saw nothing that I really wanted. Husband (anxiously)—What did you get that you didn't want.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Out of the Question.

Geraldine—What did he say when you asked him for my hand? Gerald—I don't care to give his remarks in detail, but I couldn't marry you, if I went where he told me to.

Isn't Popular.

"I'm going to wake 'em up when I get into office," said the enthusiastic young politician. "Well, son," replied Senator Sorghum, "an alarm clock may be useful, but it isn't very popular."

Epistolary Politeness.

A new form of epistolary politeness has been devised by a business firm which wrote to a delinquent: "Oblige us by remitting the amount of our bill or we will oblige you."

To Clean Mahogany.

Mahogany and other hard woods can be kept in good condition by wiping off with a chamol skin wrung from cold water and immediately polishing with a dry piece of chamol.

Another Candidate in the Field.

Judge L. S. Rodgers, of Carlisle, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the district which is composed of the counties of Nicholas and Robertson. The race for the nomination promises to be a warm one, and an interesting political fight. Judge Rodgers is the third entry, the other candidates being Judge F. V. Cox and Green R. Keller.

Excellent Farm.

The farm of Mrs. S. G. Clay, five miles from Paris on the Jackstown and Tarr's Station pike, will be offered at public sale today at 1 o'clock. Don't fail to attend.

Life Term for Stealing Turkey.

Cas McAtten was sentenced to the penitentiary for life in the Scott Circuit Court Friday for stealing a turkey, worth more than $2, and two former convictions being alleged in the indictment. McAtten, a negro, a character about town, could not resist the tempter, and as a result must spend the remainder of his life at Frankfort. He has twice before done time in the prison for stealing chickens. He pleaded guilty.

Insure with W. O. Hinton. Prompt paying non-union companies.To Polish Old Furniture.

For furniture there is nothing to equal olive oil or raw linseed oil rubbed into the wood, according to the grain. The woodwork may require retreating as well. Ordinary old oak is always improved by rubbing it with warm beer. It should be remembered that linseed oil has the effect of darkening mahogany.

Literally Interpreted.

Young Lady—"You say you were on a raft for six weeks, and had nothing to eat but mutton. Where did you get the mutton from?" Old Salt—"Well, you see, miss, the sea was very choppy!"

Monarchs Come Second.

Herr Harden tells us of a meeting at Gasteln between William I. and Francis Joseph. The Austrian sovereign commented impatiently on the too pressing attentions of the crowd. "It won't last long," returned his ally, soothingly. "Bismarck will be here directly, and then no one will look at us."

Cypress Defies Decay.

Cypress water tanks have been known to defy decay for more than a quarter of a century.

Cleaning up Georgetown.

The Scott county grand jury adjourned Friday after two weeks' session, returned thirty-five true bills against gamblers, operators of gambling houses and violators of the local option law. One indictment was against a former policeman for witnessing a poker game and not arresting the participants.

Civilians Will Build Armories.

Armories will be built for the state guard at Hopkinsville and Ashland, and a building will be rented at Jackson, to be used by the state guards. The armories will be built by civilians and rented with money furnished by the state, the county and the Federal Government. The Ashland Armory will cost $25,000 and the Hopkinsville Armory $15,000. These reports have been received by Acting Adjutant General E. B. Bassett.

Aged Woman Commits Suicide.

Insane because of being imprisoned for the murder of her husband several years ago, Mrs. Elizabeth Bush, aged 77 years, committed suicide at the Eastern Kentucky Asylum in Lexington. The woman strangled herself with her stockings looped around the foot of the bed. A man was hanged in Wolfe county some time ago, having been convicted as an accomplice of the murder of Bush. The case was one of the most sensational trials ever held in Kentucky.

Sheep Breeders to Meet Friday.

The annual meeting of the Kentucky Sheep Breeders' Association will be held at Mt. Sterling Friday, February 24. More than 19,000 sheep were shipped from the state in six months that were found to be infected with scabies upon their arrival at the various stock yards where government inspection is maintained. The breeders will take some action toward eradicating the disease, which is more prevalent in the counties of the central portion of the state than in the eastern or western portion.

Harrodsburg Attorney is Criticized.

Methods adopted by Attorney C. E. Rankin, of Harrodsburg, in compromising a $10,000 judgment for $2,200 that was won by County School Superintendent H. H. Walker against D. C. Heath & Co., book publishers, were criticized by the Court of Appeals in the case of the County Board of Education of Mercer county, against Rankin, in which Judge Leasing wrote the opinion. It is charged Rankin thus deprived the state of $7,800. The court says that he had no authority to enter into such a compromise; that he did not perform the duties that an attorney should perform for a client; and that having been negligent, he is not entitled to the fee of $1,000 allowed him by the lower court.

Gregees Acquitted.

In the Scott Circuit Court Claude Gregees, charged with killing Wm. Jones at a dance at Mt. Gilead, Scott county, on the night of December 23, was acquitted. It developed from the evidence that Jones had started to attack Gregees with a knife, the latter firing in self-defense, killing Jones instantly. Jones was a brother of James Jones, a fugitive from justice and who is wanted in Paris for shooting Sam Custard, a negro.

Vote Selling Inquiry Ordered.

Two Eastern Kentucky counties, Johnson and Pike, are expected to furnish the next vote bribery sensations through grand jury probes. Judge Kirk, in his instructions to the grand jury at Pikeville, ordered a thorough investigation into alleged vote selling during the last several years. He also announced that the Johnson county grand jury will receive similar instructions in a day or two. Three hundred indictments were returned by the grand jury in Pike county last year and several convictions were obtained. A number of these indictments are still pending, and these will also be prosecuted.

An Ancient Peafowl.

In 1810 Horatio Thompson came to Kentucky from Virginia, bringing with him a peafowl, then some twelve or fifteen years old. The bird still lives, and is said to be as active as ever. For seventy-five years this peafowl roosted on the same limb of a large oak until the tree happened to be cut down. Then it chose another, roosting for 110 years only on the limbs of trees. When Mr. Thompson died the bird became the property of Thomas Lambert, a farmer of Sulphur Well, Metcalfe county, the present owner. There is a school in the same county named Peafowl, in honor of this bird, believed by many now to be the oldest in the world.

"Bright Eyes" at Lexington.

"Bright Eyes," Jos. M. Gaites' biggest and most important musical production is at Lexington Opera House Monday and Tuesday and Tuesday matinee, February 27 and 28. By the same authors as "Three Twins," "Madame Sherry" and "The Girl of My Dreams," Mr. Gaites has given "Bright Eyes" one of those sumptuous productions for which he is famous and which is one of the most elaborate on the road this season. Mr. Gaites will send to Lexington the absolutely original New York and Chicago company, headed by Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook, the two famous fun makers who are still playing the parts which they originated last season. The company that supports them numbers nearly one hundred and three baggage cars are required for the transportation of the elaborate scenery.

TWO MORE ARE SIGNED

Will Holleran, of Newtown, and Canton, O., Backstop Coming Here For a Trial.

RICHMOND IN THE RING.

Indebtedness is Wiped Out and Pioneer Town Sure of Club—News Over the League.

The latest addition to the pitching staff of the Paris club that will report here for practice on April 27 is Will Holleran, of Newtown, Pa. He has been pitching amateur ball for several years and has established a fine record. He is left-handed and a young man of splendid physique. President Bacon has also signed Peter Ellinger, of Canton, Ohio, who will try for the position of catcher. So confident is Ellinger as to his ability to make good he writes President Bacon that he will come to Paris without any expense to the local club and defray all his expenses during the practice season.

An enthusiastic and interesting meeting in behalf of baseball in that city was held in Richmond Saturday night when the question as to whether that city should be represented in the Blue Grass League this season was discussed. The meeting was presided over by J. J. Greenleaf, who stated the object of the meeting. Following his remarks the door was filled with speakers and every person seemed to want to talk at once. When order had been restored after some forty minutes $3,000 had been raised to pay the outstanding debt. $1,000 had been subscribed to start the season and Hon. L. B. Herrington was unanimously elected as president. Mr. Herrington, besides being Representative in the General Assembly, is one of the most popular attorneys of the Richmond bar, and president of the Richmond Electric and Power Company.

George Keifel and "Tex" Myers, two of Lexington's old stand-bys, will not be with Lexington this season. Myers has signed a contract offered him by the Terre Haute Central League team, while Keifel will do the catching for the Kalamazoo team in the South Michigan League. Wahoo, who played with the Colts a few years ago, has written to Manager Hogan Yancey that he will be able to play in 1911. Wahoo is an exceedingly good ball player.

Manager Coleman, of the Winchester base ball club, has picked up what is thought to be a crack infielder by the name of Walsh to take the place of Joe Yeager, who will not appear with the Hustlers this season. Burden has sent in his contract for the year.

Larry Sinex has sent in his contract to Manager Yancey, of the Lexington club, making a total of seven out of eighteen sent out.

Manager Ed Mackey, of the Maysville base ball club of the Blue Grass League, says he has signed up the following players for the coming season: Pitchers—Chase, Montepir, O.; Romine, Pennville, Ind.; Breckinridge, Springfield, O.; Hogg, Pricedale, Pa.; Stoner, Galton, O.; Fiedley, Clyde, O.; and Robbins, Woodington, O. Catchers—Stribbe, Springfield, O.; Rose, Beach City, O.; Hogan, Marion, O.; Early, Akron, O.; and Weber, St. Louis, Mo. Infielders—Turner, Hamilton, O.; King, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Cahill, Lewisburg, O.; Hucins, Dayton, O.; Williams, Cincinnati, O.; and Hatrock, Mt. Camel, Pa. Outfielders—Borns, Indianapolis, Ind.; Davis, Logansport, Ind.; Poland, Linden Heights, O.; and Halem, Mt. Camel, Pa.

Negro Held to Grand Jury.

Charles Parker, colored, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on a charge of maliciously cutting and wounding Jim Nichols, another black, with intent to kill, and was held to await the action of the next grand jury in the sum of $100 bond which he failed to execute. The difficulty in which Nichols was cut by Parker occurred Saturday night and the latter was arrested and lodged in jail by Patrolman Fred Link. The trouble started in a saloon on Main street and was over a sum of money that Parker claimed was due him from Nichols. The latter claims to have left this place and went to another when he was followed by Parker and who renewed the quarrel and slashed him across the jaw with a knife inflicting a wound about three inches in length. The weapon used by Parker was a small pen knife with a blade about two inches in length. Parker served a term of one year in the penitentiary for a part he played in a shooting scrape which occurred in this city about seven years ago, and recently served a jail sentence of thirty days for stealing a tarpaulin. A number of violators were before Judge January for minor offenses. Ida Smith, colored, was fined $17.50 for breach of the peace; Veris Buckner, loitering, $17.50; Will Herrington, white, breach of the peace, $17.50; Chas. Moore, colored, drunkenness, $7.50.

Minnie Chenault and her brother, Arthur Chenault, became involved in a difficulty on High street and were arrested by Officer Link. The former was fined $7.50 and the latter $17.50 and was given five days in jail.

SUIT AGAINST PATROLMAN

Charles B. Thomas and Surety
Defendants in Action Filed in the U. S. Court.

PETITION ALLEGES ASSAULT

Indictment Found by the Grand Jury Against Officer Who Committed Offense.

Through his counsel, Attorney P. A. Thompson, of Paris, Chas. Wright, as next friend of William Wright, filed suit in the United States Circuit Court at Frankfort against Charles B. Thomas a member of the Paris Police force, and his surety, the American Bonding Company, of Baltimore, Md., for damages in the sum of $2,025. The suit is the outgrowth of an assault which is alleged to have been committed by the defendant officer upon William Wright, when the latter was in the custody of the official.

The petition alleges that on the night of August 29, 1910, the defendant officer placed Wright under arrest for a minor violation to which he submitted without resistance, and while under arrest and in the custody of the officer and without cause or provocation he was assaulted by the said officer and severely injured with a policeman's club, necessitating his being placed under the care and treatment of a physician. The petition prays for damages in the amount above stated together with the costs in the action.

A few days following the arrest of Wright he was arraigned in Police Court on a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined by Police Judge E. B. January for the alleged violation.

At the November term of the Bourbon Circuit Court the grand jury returned an indictment against Officer Thomas charging assault and battery, and the case is now pending in the Circuit Court.

Paris Pythians Celebrate.

Rev. O. B. Crockett, pastor of the Methodist church in a special sermon preached to the members of Bathbone Lodge Knights of Pythias Sunday the occasion being the 44th anniversary of the founding of the order.

The lodge, the Rev. Mr. Crockett said, was an auxiliary of the church and there was no danger of the church being superseded by the lodge.

Every true Knight was conscious of the fact that the great features of pythianism, friendship, charity and benevolence, were borrowed from the Bible, and if eliminated from lodge work, the organization, no matter under what name, would disintegrate and go to pieces.

Rev. Mr. Crockett took issue with Dr. Washington Gladden, who said that the church was being robbed of its chief prerogative, charity, and that all public charity and that of the lodge properly belonged to the sphere of the church.

No churchman or citizen, said the Rev. Mr. Crockett, in his opinion, objected to public charity, or for a moment begrudged his portion of public taxation.

The lodge in applying its work to the uplifting and amelioration of mankind, was but picking up the neglected truths of the Bible, said Mr. Crockett, and all was done in the name of friendship, benevolence and charity was that simply applied Christianity.

Rev. Mr. Crockett told of Damon and Pythias, and how their friendship for each other at a critical moment, had furnished the basis of every Pythian hope. Mr. Crockett said that the Pythian homes for widows and orphans throughout the land "spoke louder than any trumpet," and that the great work of charity, friendship and benevolence was going on with increased momentum.

Back From the East.

Mr. B. A. Frank of the firm of Frank & Co., who has been in New York for several days looking up novelties for the trade, returned Saturday night, confident that he had secured the cream of the season's offerings in novelties and rich effects in furs, goods, dress goods, millinery and notions that will catch the eye and please the taste of the patrons of the firm. During his stay in the metropolis Mr. Frank made a systematic and thorough search of all the leading houses and was afforded every opportunity in securing the best markets carried in the way of novelties. These goods will arrive in a few days and when placed on display will prove the biggest drawing card any local firm has ever had. In the shipment will be shown all the swell effects that have made the New York houses famous, and they will be sure to attract merited attention.

TUBULAR BELL CHIME

The Herschede Hall Clock as a timepiece, a tubular chime, and an article of furniture for home, office, or institution, appeals alike to utility, refinement, and musical taste. The perfect movement insures correctness of time; the solid oak or mahogany case, with classic lines, conforms to good taste and the melodious tubular chime, sounding the hours and quarters after the peals of Whittington or Westminster, serve as a pleasing reminder of the passing hour. The fifty styles give ample choice in design, size, and price, all showing the moon's phases in the dial arch. We are sales agents for The Herschede Hall Clock Co. of this city, and will send illustrated catalog on request.

LEGALLY HANGED

By CHARLES LEWIS PHIPPS

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"Which one of all your cases," I asked Wilcox, the celebrated criminal lawyer, "has most excited your interest?"

"That of Mathews, who was accused of murder."

"Was he innocent or guilty?"

"Innocent."

"Did you secure his acquittal?"

"No."

"Hanged?"

"Yes; legally hanged."

"What do you mean by that?"

"I'll tell you. Mathews was in the employ of Henderson, the man who was murdered. I don't care to go into the details of the case; I will only say that there was so much circumstantial evidence against him that from the first I despaired of saving his neck. I knew he was innocent, though he could no more explain the circumstances that pointed to his guilt than I could."

"How did you know he was innocent?"

"By both experience and intuition. I defy any of my clients to deceive me in this regard. I simply look them in the eye, and that tells me the story."

"There was everything about Mathews' case to interest me. He was a younger son of a British country gentleman and in love with the daughter of another British gentleman. His mother had no knowledge of his having been accused of crime, much less having been convicted, for I could do nothing to prove him innocent. He showed me his mother's letters, and it was distressing to read them. His betrothed was also writing him without any knowledge that he was under sentence of death. A week before he was to be hanged a letter from solicitors in England was handed him, informing him that a bachelor uncle had died, and left him a large fortune."

"Upon my word! It was an interesting case, wasn't it?"

"I should say so. If ever there was a man who had everything to live for Mathews had. And to be judicially executed without ever having wronged any one in his life was simply awful. You have no idea how having a life on your hands wears on a man, and this case nearly drove me insane."

"But I braced myself for a gigantic effort. After conferring with Mathews I decided to cable the solicitors in England, giving them the situation and asking how much funds they could cable me within a few days. They placed £20,000 to my credit, and with this sum I went to work. There was no use in trying to secure delay or a new trial. What I must do was to interest the sheriff. I had a long secret conference with him, but could not move him to act for money, though I so far secured his judgment that he must do an official wrong in hanging Mathews that he consented to wink at any game I might practice, provided it could be kept secret."

"I got a friend of mine who was a professor in a medical college to apply for the body of Mathews as soon as he was dead. This enabled me to gain possession of the condemned man the moment the hanging was over. Then I 'fixed' every official who was to be present at the hanging. Mathews put in a request that there should be no spectators present. I could not even be present myself. But there was not one of the officials to whom I paid less than $10,000, and the hangman got $25,000. My friend the doctor was the only one present who got nothing. He had a coffin ready for the corpse as soon as it was taken from the gallows and a hearse to carry it to the hospital."

"Well, that night I went to the hospital and found Mathews locked in the doctor's room."

"But how was the hanging managed?"

"I don't know; I never asked. There were half a dozen men paid by the state to see that Mathews was hanged, and I paid every one of them—in all $100,000—to go through the process without hanging him. All I know is that I paid the money and found Mathews alive in the doctor's room. Some burnt cork, a woolly wig and a suit of clothes procured from a Jew tailor fixed him so that no one would know him. I had a steerage ticket for him in an outgoing steamer, and early the next morning he was on his way to England."

"He must have been very grateful to you."

"Grateful! I should say so. Before parting with me he made me promise that I would come over as soon as possible and see him. I couldn't go for a year, and then I found him in possession of £50,000 a year income and married to the woman he loved. He met me on the steamer, and the first thing he did was to impress it upon me that neither his mother nor his wife nor any one living except his solicitors knew that he was judicially dead in America. He had often tried to bring himself to unburden his secret to his wife, but had always failed."

"Mathews entertained me royally and begged me to suggest some way for him to pay the debt he owed me, even if it required every cent of his fortune. I assured him that I took more comfort in his case than in all the cases I had ever won, though I had lost it."

"After spending a month with him I left him to return. He could hardly bear to part with me and regretted that it wouldn't be safe for him to come to America or he would cross the ocean with me. He shed tears when I came away."

Motor Too Quiet-Arrested.

The 1911 season has unquestionably accomplished much in the way of quiet running motors. An unusual and rather amusing incident of this was recently given in Los Angeles. J. B. Morrow, who owns an Inter-State, left the car alongside the sidewalk, thinking he had shut off the motor. A short circuit, however, kept the engine running, but so quietly that Morrow did not detect it. A number of the Los Angeles police force coming up the sidewalk also thought the motor dead, and in order to grab a moments repose leaned up against the car's hood. He then detected a slight vibration, made investigation and found the motor running most industriously. He arrested Morrow for leaving the engine running for over a half hour on the street.—From the San Francisco Bulletin.

Did You Ever Think It Over?

That a man can do what is right in any kind of business. Six years ago, when I first came to this city, you had parties in the same line of my business that did about ten per cent. of the business I am doing to-day.

Do You Know the Reason Why?

It's because I give one and all that deals with me a square, honest deal. I owe my success in business to the fact that I always give correct, honest weight and the highest market price.

LOST IN THE CATACOMBS

By GROVER J. GRIFFIN

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

When I was a boy reading stories of Rome in connection with my studies the great desire of my life was to visit the Eternal City and the localities at which the incidents I read about occurred. I wished to go over the seven hills on which the city had been built; I wished to see the Forum, the home of the vestal virgins, the spot where Castor and Pollux appeared, marked now by the ruins of their temple; I wished to see the Coliseum, the triumphal arches, the Pantheon. Above all, I desired to go down into the catacombs where the early Christians secretly deposited their dead.

The time finally came when I reached the object of my desires. I visited Rome. On the steamer crossing the Atlantic and later steaming over the Mediterranean I met Marian Chambers, and, sitting on deck moonlight nights with her, I caught from her a fever—the fever of love. By the time we reached Gibraltar I was down, and during the whole voyage from there to Naples I was very ill with this irritating disease. I was cured on the homoeopathic principle that like cures like. The love of the girl given in gradually increased doses put me in a normal condition.

By the time we reached Rome I was ready to enjoy the sights I had counted on seeing ever since I began to study Latin. And now I had a loved companion to visit them with me. The catacombs that had interested me most I reserved till the last. Marian and I had a fancy for slipping away from those we traveled with and going sightseeing together. One morning we took a carriage, drove out on the Appian way and stopped at the entrance of those subterranean passages I had long wished to explore.

We were in time to join a party about to descend, were each given a wax taper, and a monk in a white cowl, who was to pilot us, led us down a stone staircase at the bottom of which were the catacombs.

We followed the taper light procession for awhile, but finally—at the time I would not tell how it happened, but now I am an old married man I will admit that I was never happy for half an hour at a time without a kiss from my Marian, and I led her away from the others for the purpose of taking one. As soon as this object had been accomplished we started on after the others. Immediately we came to a split in the passage, and the party had gone so far that we could not tell which of the two avenues they had taken. Making choice of the left hand passage, we ran as fast as we could, only to find new splits and turns and corners, but not the party. We were lost.

People have been lost before in these underground burial places and have narrated their experiences. In our case there is something different from any of them. I had a box of matches in my pocket that I carried for cigar lighters. We also had two tapers. As soon as I realized that we were lost I put out both the tapers, and, being in a small open space where was a Christian's skeleton in a sarcophagus, we sat down on the latter to think.

What would be the result of our thus being lost underground? We would not be missed by the party we had joined, for we knew not one of them. Parties were going through the catacombs every day, but would they happen to come our way? Besides, we might starve before we were discovered. There was nothing whatever for us to subsist on. We might try to find our way out, but there were many miles of these subterranean passages, and we were liable to wander farther from the entrance. The result of our deliberations was to remain where we were.

I will pass over some twenty hours of our captivity without attempting to describe our feelings. The most hopeless part of it was that our friends did not know where we were. We passed most of the time in the dark, for I wished to save our tapers and matches for any opportunity that might occur. While sitting on the sarcophagus something ran on my foot. I scratched a match, and its flame revealed the two glistening eyes of a rat.

I at once lighted a taper, and while Marian held it I tried to catch the rat. If he would serve no other purpose we might need to eat him. I didn't have much trouble getting my hands on him. I think he knew we were lost there and was willing to help us out. Then an idea occurred to me. Scribbling a note on a letter I had in my pocket, stating that we were lost in the catacombs, I held the rat while Marian tied the note with a strip torn from her handkerchief around the little fellow's neck. Then we put him down. He gave us the most knowing look in the world and ran away.

Half an hour later I felt the rat running over my feet. I lit a taper and saw that he was without either the note or the strip by which it had been fastened to him. This gave us hope that it had been removed by a human being. Ten minutes later I heard a halloo. I replied, and after a number of calls we could see the dim light of tapers, then a party coming to search for us. They had received the message, but had not missed us when the party we had started with returned.

We brought the rat out with us. He slept at night in a cage and by day goes where he likes.

WHEN THE TIME CAME

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Mrs. Sarah Drew was a New Hampshire widow. She owned a farm, and Jake White was her hired man. He was a good man and a good worker and had been with the family for three years when Farmer White died. It will never be known to outsiders whether Mr. White, when told that he was to be gathered to his fathers, called Jake to his bedside and said:

"I must go, but I am consoled by the thought that I leave Sarah in good hands. Give her a year or so to mourn my loss and then propose matrimony."

Three years went by and Jake had not spoken. There were times when he thought he was encouraged to speak out and other times when he was prepared to come in from the field after a hard day's work and learn that the widow was engaged to the sewing machine agent who had that route. The widow, too, had thoughts. It was more than once whispered about that Jake was in love with this or that farmer girl, and she had come to feel that his loss would be a double one.

Mrs. Drew had been a widow for four years and Jake White had done bushels and bushels of thinking when winter came on. When the foot or more of snow which heralded the change of season had got packed down on the highway Providence put it into Jake's head to get out the big hand sled and propose a ride down the long and winding hill. Providence didn't go so far as to put the widow next as to what would happen, but it meant well by both. It had been a long time, and Providence meant to hurry things up a bit. Half a dozen of the neighbors were to take part in that moonlight sleigh ride, but for one reason or another all backed out, leaving the two alone. Probably this was another trick on the part of Providence.

About the time the sled was drawn out for the glide Elder Henderson, who lived just beyond the foot of the hill, was saying to his wife:

"Martha, I bought ten bushels of taters of the Widder White yesterday."

"We'll need 'em all before spring," was the reply.

"I was goin' for 'em tomorrow, but it's such a nice night that I dunno but I'll yoke up the oxen and jog along now."

"Might as well, I guess, but look out that the taters don't get frostbit. You know how nighsighted you are in the moonlight. If you hear sleigh bells you'd better give 'em the road."

"Nighsighted!" he indignantly sniffed. "Don't you go to makin' out that I'm a hundred years old. Why, I could pick up a pin on the darkest night you ever saw. I've got just the same rights as anybody, and I'm dinged if I give more'n half the road."

The oxen were yoked in due time and started out. There were bags to hold the potatoes and blankets to cover the bags, and any old sport would have given odds of two to one that the elder, the oxen and its cargo would arrive at the top of the hill right end up after a climb of twenty minutes. The wager would have been made without taking Providence into consideration, and the old sport would have lost.

The Widow White was bundled up and seated on the sled. In fact, she was strapped on. Jake sat close behind her, dragging the foot that was to steer the sled a straight course. As they were ready to start it came over him to speak of his love. A feeling came to the widow that he was going to, but the time was not ripe. Providence figures those things down to minutes and seconds. As Jake shut his mouth on his words and started the sled Elder Henderson, near the foot of the hill, started singing a hymn. He not only loved the sound of his singing, but he thought the oxen ought to be encouraged. His voice came floating up the hill, and as Jake caught it he said:

"Mrs. White, that's Elder Henderson."

"Yes."

"He's probably coming after those potatoes with his oxen and sled."

"Well?"

"He'll be in the middle of the road, and as our sled is already getting away from control there's going to be a smashup. I want to say to you that I have loved you for the last three years and to ask you if you will marry me?"

"Oh, Jake!"

"It's the elder and the oxen for sure. Yes or no?"

"It's so sudden!"

"Right in the middle of the road, and we'll be into them in ten seconds."

"Must I—?"

"Five seconds more!"

"Then—yes!"

Elder Henderson was marching ahead of the oxen, a hero leading the way. He was struck and sent flying and his tune cut short. Then the sled struck the oxen and flung them into the ditch and made a long jump over the other and a minute later was at the foot of the hill and Jake was saying:

"We might say the first of next week for the wedding!"

It didn't come off quite as quick as that, as they waited for the elder's cuts and bruises to heal so that he could be a guest, but things came all right in a little time, and a favorite saying of the elder's is:

"All the hand of Providence, sir. If I hadn't set out to sled them taters home that night there might never have been a marriage."

How would we should all be if at middle age we could actually know as much as in youth we thought we did!

A Thankful Spirit.
Who can measure the worth of a thankful spirit? It sustains and keeps one long after loved ones and property are gone.—W. H. Jordan.

Prodigies Wear Out.
There is some chance of a boy amounting to something if he is stupid when six years of age. It is the boys who are prodigies at learning when they are young who stay out in the rain when they are grown.

Why He Mourned.
O'Toole—"An' why are yer wearin' mournin', Muldoon?" Muldoon—"Shure, an' Oi hev it." The editor of a magazine O'd takin' wrote me yesterday an' red that me subscipshun hed exspired!—Judge.

Great Gift to Humanity.
Of all the good gifts that ever came out of the wallet of the Fairy Godmother, the gift of natural gladness is the greatest and the best. It is to the soul what health is to the body, what sanity is to the mind, the best of normality.—Miss Carman.

Tuberculosis

Plenty of fresh air, sleeping out-doors and a plain, nourishing diet are all good and helpful, but the most important of all is

Scott's Emulsion

It is the standard treatment prescribed by physicians all over the world for this dread disease. It is the ideal food-medicine to heal the lungs and build up the wasting body.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the welfare of your bowels. There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this result indigestion, piles, weariness, etc., that women constantly complain of. But there is no use taking "female remedies" and trying to cure by every means you can find until you have started your bowels to moving. You will find that when the bowels move regularly once or twice a day all your petty ills will disappear. Take a good, mild laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for awhile and you will find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will regulate themselves and work at state normal, and then your headaches and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartic pills or salts, but just such a mild and pleasant-tasting remedy as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

You can obtain a bottle of your drug-gist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cured them and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child, but if you have never used it take the advice of Mrs. Earl S. Cox, 409 Twenty-ninth St., Holme, N. H., and Mrs. Ellen Dungan, Muskegon, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That it will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 550 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Strength of Ice.
It is said that ice one and a half inches will support a man; four inches thick will support a cavalry; five inches thick will support an 84-pound cannon; ten inches thick will support a multitude, and 18 inches thick will support a railroad train. These figures, of course, presupposes that the ice is of an even thickness, not having thin places, and only to true ice, not slush ice or to ice when the temperature is above the freezing point. After a thaw sets in but little confidence can be placed on the strength of the ice.

The heavy sleet which fell in this section Sunday afternoon and night did considerable damage to telephone lines and shade trees. Unsheltered stock is reported to be suffering considerably as a result of the severe cold which came so unexpected and which gave farmers no time to prepare for the comfort of their stock. With the exception of the damage suffered by the two telephone companies in Millersburg, a number of poles and lines being down, no serious loss is reported.

Master Ross Deans entertained Saturday afternoon about twenty-five of his little friends, it being his ninth birthday. The home was darkened and softly illuminated with wax tapers in candelabra. A number of games were indulged in and the little folks enjoyed every moment of the time. Dr. and Mrs. Deans left nothing undone that would enhance the pleasure of all the guests. They are delightful entertainers and this occasion was one that will live in the hearts and minds of the little folks. Ices and cakes were served during the time.

The recital given by the pupils in music and expression at the M. F. C. Friday evening was good. A delightful program had been prepared which was well executed. The musical numbers were classical, though not necessarily heavy. Interspersed by the readings by the pupils in expression and the vocal numbers gave the program considerable variety and made it all more entertaining. Miss Nell, instructor in string instruments, consented after several requests to render a violin number, to the delight of all who heard it. There was but one objection to the entertainment and that was it was entirely too short. The reception which was to have followed the recital was omitted and will take place after the next one.

Police Judge Applies Buggy Whip.

Police Judge John N. Menefee, Jr., of Stanford, gave Lee Long, a young white man, twelve lashes with a buggy whip in lieu of a heavy fine and jail term for being drunk.

Menefee is a strong believer in the efficacy of the whipping post and gave Long the alternative of taking a whipping or working out a fine. Long chose the former, and Menefee laid it on at a lively stable in front of a large crowd.

This is the second man Menefee has whipped since being in office, the other having been a negro who has been frequently caught selling whisky in Stanford, which is supposed to be a dry town, but is really very wet.

Two Acquitted of Murder Charge.

The jury in the case of Letcher Ham, in the Nicholas Circuit Court, charged with the murder of Hargis King, a barber, after being out Friday night about two hours returned a verdict of acquittal. Ham, who testified in his own behalf, gave a straightforward account of his whereabouts on the night of the killing after he was seen in Carlisle the evening before in company with King, who feckly next morning was found dead in his buggy on the Headquarterspike with two bullet holes in his head.

The jury brought in verdict of not guilty in the case of the Commonwealth against Crowe Shea, a prominent farmer of Nicholas county, charged with killing Jonas Crawford.

Wm. Frazier to Die May 5.

In the Scott Circuit Court Judge W. C. Halbert, of Vanceburg last week passed sentence of death on William Frazier, the Chattanooga negro, charged with criminally assaulting Rosa Reed, a negro girl in Scott county last August. This is the first time in the history of Scott county that a death verdict has been given a negro for an offense of this kind against one of his own race, and is rare even in Kentucky. The date of his execution has been fixed for May 5, next.

Special Judge Appointed.

The Woodford Sun says: "Circuit Clerk A. P. Curtis has received a letter from Judge R. L. Stout, who is at Clearwater, Florida, recuperating from his illness of typhoid fever, stating that while his condition is steadily improving, he does not feel that he is well enough to preside at the February term of the Woodford Circuit Court, which will convene on the 27th inst. "Mr. Curtis has notified Gov. Willson, who will appoint a Special Judge for this court. The docket is a very light one, with no cases of great importance."
